Most people fail their driving test...

Are you ready?

Those who pass their driving test have had, on average, about 45 hours of professional training, combined with 22 hours of private practice. Candidates who combine professional instruction with private practice are more successful on the test.

If you're not getting it right all the time without your instructor's help then you're not ready to take your test.

DSA
DRIVING STANDARDS AGENCY